Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Washington blows hot and cold as regards war news. One week Secretary of State Hull says that war may end much sooner than expected. The next week the President cautions against too much optimism and Hull says the war is still far from won, or words to that effect. One advantage to citizens who live as far away from Washington as those in Nevada City is that they are able to see the forest. In Washington, we can be reasonably sure, many public officials can't see the forest for the trees.

Those who predict that the war will be over within a year fall back on their experience and observation of the first world war. It was not as big a war, and not even the same kind of war. But it has many of the same factors. The Germans, the English, the Russians, the Italians, and the United States are fighting again. In addition the Chinese are fighting factors, and by the time this sees print, the Mexicans may be in the war.

There were certain symptoms of exhaustion on the part of Germany that heralded the end of the last war. Lack of food is one symptom, because no country without vast food resources can, over many years, devote its manpower to military enterprises and war industries and preserve the food balance, that is, if war is on the present scale. Germany might have prolonged the war, if Hitler had not invaded Russia, but for nearly a year this conflict in Russia has bled Germany white in equipment, men, munitions, food, and, what is far more important in this war than in the first world war, oil.

We hear from diplomats returning from Germany that food and oil are running short in Germany. If the war on the Russian front continues all summer, these two essentials will be further depleted, for even if Germany wins to the oil regions on the shores of the Caspian, it will probably be too late to replenish its stores and continue the war. There is plenty of evidence that Germany would not have warred on Russia, had it not been facing a shortage of oil.

Then we have Marshal Goering's recent appeal to the workers and the farmers of Germany, and his tearful tale of the hard winter in Russia. According to Raymond Gram Swing, radio commentator, his whole speech was an exhortation to produce more on the farms and in the factories, in view of the sufferings and heroism of the German soldiers in Russia. He promised victory to be sure, but gave no dates and implied that the war would be long and attended by many hardshis for both soldiers and civilians. When we reflect that in the first world war, the German people had suffered hardships for only four years, and that since 1933 they have been placed on rations of one kind or another, giving up "butter for cannon," we may reasonably surmise that the circumstances which caused Goering to deliver such a speech are considerably worse than the speech reflects. His allusions to "hardness may imply firing squads used against mutinous German soldiers. There was something concealed, something murky in Goering's talk, but apparently he was referring to matters of common knowledge among the people.

About two weeks prior to Goering's pep talk, der fuehrer had also talked. For the first time he did not put a period anywhere to the war term. He, too, promised victory, but never hinted at how or when. His asked for the power of life and death over any German citizen. He had that power already, but this was a reaffirmation and there was a reason for it, though we do not know what reason. We can oly guess that he wished to make this grant of

Del Oro Theatre Grand Opening In Grass Valley Tommorrow Night

Grass Valley's long awaited new theatre, the Del Oro, will stage a grand opening tomorrow night with "The Courtship of Andrew Hardy" as the feature picture.

Dedication exercises for the new magnificent showhouse, probably the finest theatre in northern California outside of Sacramento, will be held at 9 o'clock, following the first show.

Eben K. Smart will act as the master of ceremonies at the dedication. "God Bless America" will be sung by the California Cornish Gold Mining Singers.

The presentation speech will be made by Robert McNeill, vice president of the California Theatres, Inc., and the building will be accepted in behalf of Nevada County people by Mayor John Hansen of Grass Valley.

The dedicatory address will be delivered by Superior Judge George L. Jones of Nevada City. Closing remarks will be made by Jack E. Keegan, manager of the theatre.

The opening of the Del Oro, which in Spanish means gold, will fulfill a desire of Grass Valley theatre patrons for many years for a new showhouse.

The new building, erected practically in the heart of the business district of Grass Valley, will seat 1300 persons. It was built on the site of the old Strand Theatre and additional property adjoining, which the California Theatres, Inc., purchased several years ago.

The Del Oro can rightfully be called the most beautiful structure in Grass Valley, surpassed only in the county by the Nevada County Courthouse. The theatre sign, which looms into the sky higher than surrounding buildings, can be seen for miles. The outside of the theatre is of white stucco. The interior is magnificently furnished and the show patrons are assured of fine entertainment in commodious and beautiful surroundings.

JOE F. O'CONNOR ASKS REELECTION AS CO. SURVEYOR

Joseph F. O'Connor, now serving his 24th year as suveyor of Nevada County, announces his candidacy for return to that office at the primary election Tuesday, August 25th.

The duties of the office of surveyor entail a myriad of affairs which are exacting in their demands and wherein accuracy is the watchword.

The but little known affairs of the office include the definition of county owned properties, rights of way, and other jobs demanding most complete engineering skill and ability.

The findings of the surveyor are also a matter of record, must be compiled accordingly and preserved for reference and evidence in the county archives.

That Surveyor O'Connor possesses all of the capabilities which is office demands is aptly proven in the record of his work in this county. With a background of engineering experience he first sought the county surveyor office in 1918, was elected and later re-elected to complete uninterrupted serving of six terms in all. Unresitant return to office by the voters stands as a distinct tribute to his ability and performance of duties.

O'Connor stated that, if reelected, he will continue the same service to this county which has characterized his efforts in the past near quarter of a century.

Many Visitors To Spend Holiday Weekend Here

Many young residents of the bay district whose parents live here, will spend the holiday weekend in Nevada City. Among those already here is Robert Schiffner, law student, who has finished his second year in Boalt Hall.

Miss Margaret Wyant, who is now employed in secretarial work in the new building on the U. C. campus which houses the office of school relations, will visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wyant.

Harley M. Leete, Jr., who resides in Berkeley and is employed in San Francisco, with his wife, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leete.

Miss Mary Innis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Innis, is home for the summer. Mary Libbey and Elsie Schreiber are also home from college to spend the summer.

CHROME GROUP WILL MEET IN NEVADA CITY

The next meeting of the Tri-County Chrome Association will be held in Nevada City on June 8th.

This was decided upon at the meeting held Monday night in Auburn when officials of the newly organized mining group endorsed Bowman for the site of the proposed stockpile for chrome and other strategic war materials which may be obtained in Nevada, Placer and El Dorado Counties.

Erroi MacBoyle, president of the state mining board, who has been representing the California mining indusry at conferences in Washington, is expected to attend the Nevada City meeting.

A report given at Monday night's meeting by Bruce McDonell, chief of the bureau of war minerals production, said Bowman had been approved by engineers since it has access to both east and westbound trains.

J. P. Hall of Auburn was elected president of the organization and Howard Ward secretary. Nevada County directors will be elected at the June 8th meeting.

Fine Response To War Bond Pledge Drive

Mrs. Paul Kemper and her War Savings Committee here are "elated" over the success of the Victory Pledge campaign under way here this week.

The drive to secure pledges for the purchase of war bonds and stamps may be concluded this weekend but because of the holiday it is possible it will continue into the first of next week.

"It is amazing,' Mrs. Kemper said today, "how many people have pledged to purchase one $25 bond per month, which is far in excess of the 10 per cent of a person's earnings asked by the Treasury Department."

Mrs. Kemper revealed the war bonds and stamps purchase by Nevada Cityans has already passed the $250,000 mark. That is considered very good for a town the size of Nevada City.

The War Savings Committee is being aided in the Victory Pledge drive by local Red Cross workers. An office is open in the City Hall where workers can obtain supplies and information. Mrs. Alvin Walthers is in charge.

RETURN FROM CONVENTION

Chairman Cary Arbogast of the Nevada County Board of Supervisors, Clerk R. N. McCormack and other members of the board have returned from Hollywood, where they attended the supervisor's convention last week.

Interstate Commerce Body Okays Abandonment Request

Another step in the eventual abandonment of Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad, historic 20-mile steam road line connecting Nevada City, Grass Valley and Colfax, occurred this week when the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington granted the railroad's request to discontinue operations.

J. E. Taylor, president of the railroad, said the next and final step for the discontinuation of the line rests with the California Railroad Commission, with which a petition has been filed for abandonment.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the abandonment without a hearing but it is not known here whether similar action will be taken by the railroad commission.

The railroad here is now awaiting official word from Washington as to whether the abandonment is effective immediately or whether a six months or possibly a year's period must elapse before the discontinuation will be official.

The railroad company has purchased property in Auburn for the transfer of the main line rail carload traffic by truck to Nevada City and Grass Valley. The company has obtained all rights to expand to the highway. Overnight merchandise traffic from San Francisco will be picked up at Sacramento, Taylor announced.

The mail and express traffic to Colfax by passenger bus remains intact, Taylor announces, as does the stage line to Auburn for connections with West and Eastbound busses.

LOCAL RED CROSS RECEIVES INSTRUCTIONS ON ADDRESSING LETTERS TO WAR PRISONERS

Carroll Coughlan is the choice of the Nevada City Red Cross Chapter to serve as president for the coming year. Coughlan ably headed the local chapter during the past year.

H. E. Kjorlie was elected as vice president, Belle Douglass, ecretary, Mrs. Roy Zimmerman, assistant secretary and Ruth Hutchison, treasurer.

Directors elected include Benjamin Hall, R. J. Bennetts, George L. Jones, J. W. O'Neill, Mrs. Orland McCraney, Mrs R.. R. Goyne and Mrs. F. F. Cassidy.

The local Red Cross has received a complete copy of instructions from the postmaster general on the subject of mail for prisoners of war and for detained and interned civilians.

Free postage is now available to detained or interned civilians as well as military prisoners of war.

Instructions regarding letters to prisoners include:

Prisoners of war held by Germany or Italy:

The address should contain full name of prisoner. Number of prisoner of war. Designation of prison camp. Country in which camp is located.

Prisoner of war held by Japan:

Letters for such prisoners should not be mailed until the prisoner's name is released by the military or naval authority, which release may be reported by the Red Cross or other reliable body.

When so released pending complete information as to prisoners identifying number and prison address the prisoner should be addressed as follows: Full name, military title and branch of service followed by the indication "formerly at Wake, Guam, Philippines, Shanghai, etc". American prisoner in Japan, care International Red Cross Committee, Geneva, Switzerland. Follow this by the words Postage Free—Franc du Port and if to Germany add Gobuhrenfroi.

Senders name should be placed on back of envelope.

If parcels are to be mailed to prisoners in Germany or Italy it is necessary to have, name and rank. his number, camp and country. If these items are not available sender should secure the information. Service for parcels to Japan prisoners is not yet available.

As there are many points to be considered in these items it is best for the sender to personally consult Mrs. Carroll Coughlan who has proper information. Mrs. Coughlan is out of town for a few days but will be home by June 1st. It is the policy of the chapter to assist in every way possible toward comfort and attention to the men and their families. Mrs. Coughlan has had experience in welfare activities and will give sympathetic aid to all applicants.

Leonard Tinkler is in the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley with injuries suffered when the automobile he was driving was forced off the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway by another car and crashed into the bank.

Harold C. Roberts, riding with Tinkler, received minor bruises. The California Highway Patrol is conducting a search for the machine which forced the Tinkler auto from the road.

Memorial Day Services Will Be Held Saturday At School, Cemeteries

EBEN K. SMART, PAST COMMANDER OF AMERICAN LEGION, TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Memorial Day services will be held Saturday starting at 9:40 o'clock at the Nevada City High School Auditorium.

Following the memorial rites in honor of the dead, veterans will ride to the cemeteries, where services will be held over the graves of war veterans.

Nevada City stores will be closed Memorial Day, as will the city hall, courthouse and bank.

The three veteran organizations of the county, Banner Mountain Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post of the American Legion and Canadian Legion are uniting in the staging of the Memorial Day rites here.

The program will open with a half hour band concert in front of the high school auditorium. The Memorial Day speaker will be Eben K. Smart of Grass Valley, past commander of the Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Legion Post and grand trustee of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

Smart will be introduced by Howard C. Bennetts, commander of Banner Mountain Post.

Preceding the address by Smart there will be the call to order, advancing of the colors of the three veterans organizations and their auxiliaries, General Logan's Memorial Day Order, the playing of America by the Nevada City High School band, a song by the local high school chorus, the playing of Battle Hymn of the Republic, by the local band, the dramatization of Gettysbury address by Grass Valley High School students, a cornet solo by Barbara Kessler, a piano solo by Olivia Stork and a vocal solo by Barbara Kessler.

Following Smart's talk the chorus will again sing, the band will play the national anthem and the colors will then be retired.

At the Pine Groce Cemetery exercises will be held at the Grand Army plot. The firing squad salute will be rendered and John Nettle will blow taps. The exercises will be completed with the hoisting of the American Flag on the Mott Memorial Flag Pole.

Following the Pine Grove rites, the veteran and auxiliary members will go to the Catholic Cemetery, where the auxiliaries will conduct memorial rites.

The usual parade, in which school children participate, will not be held this year. As in past years however, school children will contribute flowers to be placed on the graves at the local cemeteries.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION HERE NAMES COMMITTEES

Members were appointed to the following committees to act for the coming year:

Membership, Ethel White; music, Genevieve Elliott; publicity, international relations and public affairs, Dorothy Adams; defense, Miriam Skeahan; education, Elise DeMattei; emblem, Alberta Bolton; finance, Jessie Robinson; health, Pat Jackson; legislation, Grace Kimzey; programs, Wilma Meejie; publications, Dolly Peterson.

Caught in the Riffles

Don't lose, or let anybody steal your sugar ration book. Because if you do it will be 60 days before you can get another, and in the meantime you'll have to do without sugar.

This is the warning issued yesterday by Sugar Administrator J. K. Osborne. The sugar rationing act prescribes that wait ,just in case the reported loss of a sugar ration book of stamps might not be bona fide.

Praise for "meritorious service beyond the call of duty" is due local postal employees.

When a letter is received in the night mail here from local family members who are serving the United States overseas the family is notified and can call at the post-office that same night to get the letter instead of waiting until the next day.

Thus, when Judge and Mrs. George L. Jones receive a letter from Nancy Jones, who is with the U. S. armed forces in Ireland, and it arrives in the night mail, as her letters do, a telephone call informs them of the receipt of the letter and they can enjoy it that evening instead of awaiting next day's mail.

The service is greatly appreciated by those who day by day anxiously await letters from their loved ones in danger zones.

From an unimpeachable source, as foreign correspondents would say, comes information that the Nevada County Board of Supervisors will soon appoint a county farm advisor, a post which the rural population of the county have sought to have established for years. Earl Hiscox, game warden, conducts a one man campaign against the enemies of fish and game. Last week Hiscox killed 52 water snakes which had been preying on the trout at the Scotts Flat Reservior. . . Bob Tamblyn would be a flying cadet today if it wasn't for defective eyes. Tamblyn passed all tests and then was counted out following his eye examination. . . Henry Santinelli has returned from Amador County, where he has been working, to await his call into the armed forces . . . And when Ray Wilde, Jr. recovers from an operation to correct a knee injury he will go into the service. Wilde is in the Miners Hospital. . . . July 4th is but a little more than a month away but whether or not a celebration will be held here has not been decided upon. A meeting was called for the purpose of discussing a celebration. No one showed up . . . In a few days a prominent local resident will decide whether or not he will oppose Congressman Harry L. Englebright at the coming election. Already he has been promised strong support in all but two or three of the 18 counties in the congressional district.

Sacramento Camp Fire Girls will not follow a custom of 12 years by vacationing at Lake Vera near here during two months of the summer. The reason given for the closing of Camp Minaluta this year is because of inability to obtain counsellors.

On the other hand the Reno Camp Fire Girls have leased Gold Hollow Camp and will be here for several weeks this summer. Oakland and Piedmont Camp Fire Girls will again open camp at the lake.

LESSON FOR THE FUTURE

A pertinent warning about the future is contained in a talk made by Attorney General Earl Warren the other day before the national association of county officials.

For now, Warren says, "we should bend every effort to win the war, as it is either Hitler or us. But we must be prepared for the peace to follow. In timeof war we must concentrate vast powers in the hands of our governmental leaders, but we must take steps to immediately reclaim those powers."

With all the talk about post-war planning, the prediction is frequently made that centralized governmental planning will extend to the economic field to an extent almost if not quite comparable to the economic planning made necessary during the war.

On this score, the New York Times makes a vivid argument—one that gives point to Warren's warning—in connection with the confusion that accompanied gasoline rationing in the past as a result of fact that it was left lergely to the individual to decide how much gasoline he was entitled to.

"The episode is a jolting warning", says the Times, "that rationing is too serious and difficult a business to allow the individual very much say in determining his allotment.

"There is a lesson in all this that goes beyond the immediate case. Every step in economic planning—and that is what rationing is—leads to further restriction of individual choice and further reliance upon coercion. For the war we must face these compulsions But in all the uproar about post-war planning the lessons of the moment should not be ignored."

We do either expect or desire to see a complete reversion to the "good old days" when the war is over and we fully realize that post-war rehabilitation of our country and the world as a whole will take careful thought and planning.

But planning cannot be extended to the field of domestic economy on a limited or restricted scale, as the New York Times so ably points out, because every such step leads to further such steps.

In a very broad way the question will inevitably boil down to whether we are to have an economy of free enterprise, with the government applying a restraining hand only when that freedom is abused, or an all-out planned economy resembling if not identical to state socialism or communism.

For Americans, the choice should be clear.

CALIFORNIA LEADS IN U.S. WAR PRODUCTION

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Contract awards in California for production of war materials during the twenty-one months period ending in February, total $4,449,086,000, placing California first among the states in total volume of war production. California contract awards or allotments are approximately 10 per cent of the national total. These figures are contained in a survey of war production contracts just completed by the research department of the California state chamber of commerce. The study is based on tabulations released by the War Production Board division of statistics.

In California, contracts for aircraft head the list with total awards amounting to $2,124,383,000. Contracts for shipbuilding total $1,313,590,000. The remainder of the California total, amounting to $1,061,113,000, constituted contracts for other war materials, industrial facilities, and non-industrial facilities.

In value of contracts awarded Michigan ranks as second state, with the total of $3,535,351,000. New York was third with contracts of $3,447,200,000. New Jersey fourth with $2,939,560,000 and Pennsylvania 5th with $2,930,090,000.

California's aircraft construction awards constitute more than 21 per cent of the nation's total. In this field of activity New York state was second with aircraft awards amounting to $1,001,733,000 and Ohio was third with $998,942,000.

In the State of Washington war contacts of all types for the twenty one months period have reached a total of $1,295,015,000, and in Oregon the aggregate is $570,592,000. Thus total contract awards for the three Pacific Coast states now total $6,164,693,000.

In a separate analysis of shipbuilding activity, the state chamber reports brings out the fact that California was also first in volume of government shipbuilding contracts awarded during the twenty one months period. New Jersey ranked second. Massachusetts third, and Washington fourth. Contract awards during March and April are unofficially estimated to have increased shipbuilding totals to $1,700,000.

About 62 per cent of the workers in California now employed in shipbuilding are found in the San Francisco Bay industrial area; 32 per cent in the Los Angeles-Long Beach area, and the remaining 6 per cent in other communities such as San Diego and Stockton.

SNUFFING THE CANDLE

Army Private Has Wife Who Is A Lieutenant

Private William M. McGuire, stationed at Mather Field, is in a quandary. Since return to military service, he doesn't know whether to begin his letters to his wife with "My dear" or "Dear Lieutenant."

In order to be a good and courteous soldier, he'll also have to salute her. You see, his wife, Lieut. Myrtle A. McGuire, is a nurse in the United States Navy.

Private McGuire's army life started before the last World War. In 1911 he joined the cavalry, A Troop, 8th Cavalry and was stationed for some time in the Philippine Islands. At the end of his enlistment in 1914 he returned to the states. At the outbreak of hostilities in 1917 he enlisted in the artillery at Fort Rosecrans and was assigned to D Battery, 25th Artillery, C. A. 8. In the spring of 1918 he was mustered out in San Diego.

His third hitch in the army finds him in stall another branch of the service, the Air Force.

With his wife in the Navy and he in the Army, it would be natural to wonder if their son isn't in the—Marines. By mere coincidence, William McGuire, Jr., is a leatherneck.

Such a group should have some interesting reunions. The McGuire's can take a bow for being a "fighting family," who have what it takes.

What we have in us of the image of God is the love of truth and justice.—Demosthenes.

THE POCKETBOOK of KNOWLEDGE BY TOPPS

ACCORDING TO PRESENT ESTIMATES, 1,700,000 MEN AND WOMEN WILL BE NEEDED TO BUILD THE 125,000 AIRPLANES CALLED FOR IN 1943
AS MUCH AS 75,000 GALLONS OF GASOLINE IS USED BY A MOTORIZED DIVISION OF GROUND FORCES EVERY 24 HOURS!
IN 17TH CENTURY EUROPE, WHEN COFFEE WAS A NOVELTY, IT WAS CUSTOMARY TO CARRY A FEW OUNCES AROUND IN ONE'S POCKET
ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN PRODUCTION IS NOW AT THE RATE OF 36,000 A YEAR--FAR IN EXCESS OF THE 20,000 GOAL SET FOR 1942
INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH CHEMISTS HAVE DEVELOPED A LIQUID THAT GETS MORE USE FROM AUTOMOBILE TIRES. APPLIED TO THE TIRES EVERY 500 MILES, IT IS SAID TO EXTEND THEIR LIFE BY SEVERAL THOUSAND MILES

power a warning to mutinous groups or individuals.

There was no boasting, no vainglorious claims. Both men talked in a manner strangely humble, as compared with former utterances. They were not thinking, it seems certain, of the effect of their words upon the conquered nations and upon their unconquered foes. They were addressing appeals to their own people. They were apologetic, and their explanations of the Russian failure had the ring of truth.

And again, we believe the U.-S. troops are gathering just as they did in the last war, to put the finishing touches on the Germans. Great Britain cannot let Uncle Sam do it alone. Several of the British war ministry have promised a second front. They cannot back down. We can confidently expect that British and American troops will open this second front very soon now. When it does open, the Germans will be called on to expend nearly twice the gasoline they ae using against the Russians alone. Their transportation factilties will be taxed terrifically. Their planes must wag back and forth between the far separated fronts. In short, all signs point to an early end to the war in Europe. And when that's done, the Japs can be dealt with very summarily.

BUY BONDS NOW WIN WAR NOW

That mothers and fathers of children of school age will enjoy the fruits of victory more than any other group of persons is the belief of Mrs. E. K. Strong, State President of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"Every parent who has a child in school has a greater stake in our victory program than anyone else possibly could have," Mrs S.trong said. "No possession is more valuable than the assurance of continued freedom of our children. It is because the congress recognizes this fact that we urge the purchase of War Savings Bonds and Stamps by every member as part of our War Service on the Home Front."

Such purchases have immediate value for national victory. They also bring personal advantages in the future. Mrs. Strong pointed out that many parents, ten years hence, will find the matured bonds especially useful for putting their children through college or for aiding older children to establish themselves in home, business, or profession.

Mrs. Strong's views have been endorsed by Mrs. Len Lageson, President of the local PTA, who added that during the week of May 24, a "Pledge Victory" campaign would be launched in all parts of the country. A neighbor to neighbor appeal will be made by thousands of volunteers to urge every American to invest at least ten per cent of his income regularly in War Bonds.

"If we, as parents refuse to buy bonds," Mrs. Len Lageson said, "our children will have to wear shackles. Since War Bonds are the safest and soundest security in the world, and the purchase of them helps win the war NOW, everyone in Nevada City should make an immediate pledge to invest in victory."

HAROLD CHASTIAN SIGNS CONTRACT AS PLACER JUNIOR COLLEGE DEAN

Harold E. Chastain, successful superintendent, principal and teacher in the secondary field, and an instructor in the University of California summer session at Berkeley, this week signed a two year contract as district superintendent of the Placer Union High School and Placer Junior College.

Chastain will also serve as principal of the high school and dean of the junior college.

The new executive will move his family to Auburn June 15, and will make his residence here after August 1. He will be at Berkeley teaching in the education department from June 23 to July 31.

After graduating from the College of the Pacific, Chastain did graduate work at Stanford University and the University of California in Berkeley, earning the degree, M. A.

He has been superintendent of the Oakdale Joint Union High School district for the past six years. In all, he has had sixteen years of successful teaching and administrative experience, including three years as vice principal of the Roseville Joint Union High School in Placer County.

While in Placer County, Chastain was active in the Boy Scouts of America. He served as district commissioner at Roseville, Oakdale and Stockton. He was a ranking Eagle Scout in the United States in 1920-1921.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, national educational honor and professional fraternity.

In recognition of his work in education, Chastain was made a member of the summer session faculty of the University of California in 1941, and his contract was renewed for 1942.
